THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS
OF THE NATIONAL INTELLIGENCE STUDY CENTER
AND THE TRUSTEES OF THE
GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY LIBRARY ASSOCIATES
INVITE YOU TO AN EXHIBIT OF BOOKS ON INTELLIGENCE from the
RUSSELL J. BOWEN COLLECTION

Thursday, November 3, 1983, 7:00 P.M.

Howard A. Gunlocke Special Collections Room

Joseph Mark Lauinger Memorial Library
37th and O Streets, N.W.
Washington, D.C.

For many years, Colonel Russell J. Bowen has been collecting titles on intelligence, security, and covert activities. He has deposited, in the Georgetown University Library, more than six thousand books and documents for use by students, faculty, and researchers.

In connection with this, the National Intelligence Study Center has recently published a subject bibliography of the Bowen Collection, entitled Scholar's Guide to Intelligence Literature.

The exhibit will open on November 3, 1983, at 7:00 p.m., with a special reception to honor Colonel Bowen. The brief program will include remarks by Colonel Bowen, Dr. Ray S. Cline and Dr. Walter Pforzheimer who will focus on the key role intelligence plays in U.S. national security and foreign policy.

Please R.S.V.P. by November 1, if you plan to attend the opening reception. Call Bette Valenti in Dr. Cline's office at 223-8596. Parking will be available on campus in lot at end of Prospect Street.
